OBSERVATIONS

At least one thing has been accomplished by the various state primaries. Hiram has decided not to make any more speeches.

FOUND guilty of inducing her cousin to murder her husband and then commit suicide, Countess Hilda Hanika of Prague, Czechoslovakia, has been sentenced to be strangled to death in the public square.

Over here we are slightly more advanced than to allow anything like that. One of our states killed a Chinaman in a gas chamber, while curious onlookers watched him die. That was bad enough, but not quite as barbarous as public death by strangling.

Sometimes one thinks it is a libel against the monkeys to claim them as our ancestors.

Police Nab Whiskey And Stills In Raid

Three stills, twenty mash barrels, 50 gallons of moonshine whiskey and three men were taken in a raid on a West Elgin street house in Lomita Tuesday night, when Constables Taber and Morris and Officers Anderson, Clark, McMillan and Young of Torrance wrote another act in the oil field clean-up drama which opened here last Saturday night.

As a result of the raid John Sammillan is serving a thousand-day sentence in the Los Angeles jail, having been unable to raise the $1000 fine imposed by Judge Hunter.

Lewis Collantes and C. Gonzales, taken into custody when the officers raided the house, were released when Judge Hunter ascertained that they were visitors and had nothing to do with the manufacture or sale of moonshine.

The police assert that the stills, one of 25 gallons and the other of 50 gallons capacity, were warm when the officers surprised the moonshine house at 2053 Elgin street.

Police assert that it was apparent that the owner of the stills and the whiskey was about to leave these parts when the flight was nipped in the unwilling bud by the raid.

Deputies and police declare that the clean-up campaign has apparently induced numerous bootleggers to set forth for less hazardous fields of operation.

CHORAL CLUB CONCERT MAY 6 AT REDONDO

Elsie Teal Will Have Prominent Part In Fine Program

Tuesday evening, May 6, at the Redondo union high school auditorium, the Century Choral club will give the third and last concert of this season. The chorus, under the able direction of C. H. Van Hellen, with Miss Rhoda Jamieson at the piano, will be assisted by Harold Proctor, tenor soloist, Miss Elsie Teal, pianist, and Miss Barbara Bolton, organist.

Harold Proctor needs no introduction to local music lovers—he is nationally known, and a California favorite. His solos with the Ellis club and the Los Angeles Oratorio society, as well as his concert and chautauqua work, are always everywhere enthusiastically received.

Barbara Bolton of Hermosa has proven herself at previous concerts, and never fails to please both with her art and her charming personality. Elsie Teal, very recently of Boston, made her debut at Aeolian hall, New York, in 1920, under the management of the Wolfsohn Musical Bureau, and has received substantial recognition throughout the east. Excellent showings of oil have been brought to the surface from Chanstor-Canfield's Del Amo No. 12, wildcat well in the southwestern extension of the field on the old Redondo road, not far east of the Redondo golf course.

Del Amo 12 is an offset to the Standard Oil company's Ellinwood No. 1. The Chanstor-Canfield wildcat is down 3600 feet and is being cored ahead.

Cores between 3500 and 3600 feet consisted of splendid oil showings. If Del Amo No. 12 becomes a producer it will prove up a vast acreage in the big Del Amo lease.

WILL PRESENT DOPE SKETCH HERE MONDAY

Anti-Narcotic League Sponsors Unique Play at Legion Hall

Dual interest is being manifested in the forthcoming appearance in this city of what is characterized as the most amazing drama of all time—"The Judge and the Dope Peddler."

The drama—which has been so described because it is not in the ordinary sense of the word a lecture, but is more nearly a dramatic presentation with a vital, tragic theme, interwoven with bits of comedy—is to be presented with the famous playwrights and orators, Edward Hall and Macdonald Summers, portraying the two title roles of judge and dope peddler.

This sketch is proving one of the most effective campaign weapons of the Anti-Narcotic League of America, an organization formed for the three-fold purpose of education on narcotics, organization against narcotics, and solution of America's greatest menace. Believing in the subtlety and effectiveness of a dramatic presentation over the usual dry form of lecture, the league has taken this means of bringing its message before its audiences.

The drama, which is further described in reviews as "a masterpiece of thrills, laughs, tears, education, with a terrific wallopp as a climax, and with a setting in your own home town," has received overwhelming attendance in the various towns and cities where it has already been presented, and many are usually turned away from the meetings unable to secure seats.

"The Judge and the Dope Peddler" will be presented Monday, May 5, at Legion hall, at 7:30 p. m., under the auspices of the Anti-Narcotic League of America. Admission is free, and the public is cordially invited.
